I was a beginning Physical Education teacher at CCCHS in the early 1970's.

One day as I was taking my class up the hill behind the school, there was a group of children sitting along the edge at the top of the hill. Behind the children was Pauline coaching and coaxing the children to holler into the area/space behind the shop.

They were experiencing making echoes. I didn't know Pauline, but I thought how creative, as my students and I listened to "Hello" many times as the echoes came back to the children.

2 cup whipping cream

2 cup whole milk

1/2-1 T. of vanilla

1 cup pureed fruit in place of 1 cup milk to have fruit flavor

Editors note: Never pass up a chance to pass along a good recipe.
